Dear Parent/Guardian of:
January 2017

The Cambridge end of course assessments, as part of Ready Now Yuma, measures a student's mastery of subjects and where a student stands relative to college and career readiness. Students do not "pass" or "fail" the exams, but rather results are used to inform teaching and learning with the goal of supporting every student to be able to demonstrate college and career readiness

Benefits of taking the exam are:

- Success on a test can make you stand out on college application materials
- Measures progress towards college readiness
- AS classes (Junior/Senior levels) can give you credit for college
- Good practice for ACT and SAT exams
- If you failed a class, a high enough test score will earn your credit back
- If you failed a class, a high enough test score will earn your credit back
- Earn a Grand Canyon Diploma and start community college early

Grand Canyon Diploma Background Information:

In 2010, the Arizona Legislature established the Grand Canyon High School Diploma as an option to the state's traditional high school diploma. It allows Arizona students who perform at a higher academic level than currently required to graduate to pursue one of several options, and – in some cases-to graduate early, if students and their families agree. If a student is interested in applying for the Grand Canyon Diploma s/he should make an appointment to see their counselor.
